ROOSEVELT WINS PRESIDENCY. CARRIES DEMOCRATS TO SWEEPING VICTORY

GOV. BRUCKER BOWS TO COMSTOCK. REPUBLICAN STATE OFFICERS LOSE.

WOODRUFF WINS. BENNETT ELECTED SHERIFF

COUNTY GOES STRONG FOR ROOSEVELT

The long looked for and much anticipated election is over and brings to this nation a new leader and new hope for national recovery from the terrible depression that has been upon us for the past two years. Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York and Speaker John N. Garner of Texas, speaker of the House of Representatives have carried the nation for president and vice president with the largest popular and electoral vote that have ever been accorded candidates for those offices.

And with them they carried Democratic candidates for U. S. senators and representatives, governors and state officers, district and county candidates all over the land, to victory. It was a decisive Democratic victory everywhere. President Hoover and Vice President Curtis carried only the states of Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Pennsylvania, receiving an electoral vote of only 59. Roosevelt carried the remaining 42 states for an electoral vote of 472.

Republican State Officers Defeated.
Gov. Brucker trailed President Hoover about 20,000 votes coming to Wayne and fared even worse at the hands of Metropolitan Area voters. Comstock's Wayne County margin was 132,000 votes. He carried 47 counties including Saginaw, home county of Brucker.

The Democratic swing in the metropolis wiped out scant margins given Republican candidates out-state, though there was still a possibility that Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, would be able to overcome the odds against him, which stood at 9,000 with Wayne practically complete. Burnette J. Abbott, of Saginaw, had that margin.

Luren D. Dickinson, who began his legislative service in the House 20 years ago, trailed Allen E. Stebbins, mayor of Ionia, by 80,000. Dickinson is one of Michigan's outstanding dry leaders.

Patrick H. O'Brien, of Detroit, led Paul W. Voorhies, Detroit Republican, by 45,000 for Attorney General.

Oramel B. Fuller, auditor general, whose State service began back in Gov. Pingree's time, went down to defeat before John Stack, of Escanaba by 55,000.

Record Breaking County Vote.

The voting strength promised to be greater, throught the county than ever before, and in Grayling exceeded all expectations. The latter township recorded 905 votes. As far as we have been able to ascertain, the former high point was in 1920 when Grayling had a vote of 763. 800 ballots were printed for Grayling Township so two hurry-up lots had to be printed before the voting was over. In other townships, too, voters turned out in large numbers.

WILLIAM COMSTOCK

OUR NEW GOVERNOR

In Grayling township there were cast 84 straight Democratic ballots and 80 straight Republican.

Some of the county contests were not definitely known until the following morning. Frank Bennett for sheriff was easy victor over James McDonnell, Democrat; County Treasurer Ferguson garnered the largest majority of any of the contested candidates and was returned by the voters by a vote of 886 over Clayton Straehly, Democrat, with 399 votes. Mr. Ferguson is feeling good over the vote his former home township of Beaver Creek gave him of 86 to 14. Frank Barnett, Republican, was easy victor over H. Petersen for the office of County Road Commissioner by a vote of 630 to 316. Elmer Corsaut, running on slips received 299 votes.

County Clerk Axel Peterson received the fine vote of 818 over his Republican opponent, James Richardson who had 468. His candidacy for second term and besides being on the popular ticket gave him this splendid vote. He says he appreciates it. And his opponent is one of the finest young men in Crawford county and well qualified for the office.

The unwarranted opposition to having a lady in county office apparently cost Mrs. Eva Reagan, Republican, to lose to Ronnow Hanson. Finishing her first term with a fine record to her credit didn't keep her out of the losing column. Her opponent is a well known and popular young man and also benefitted apparently by being on the Roosevelt side.

On this page appears a tabulated report of the voting in each township for all candidates.

Senator Ben Carpenter, Republican, had no opposition in the election and, naturally, was re-elected.

William Green, Republican, representative for Presque Isle district, was re-elected in the district with a majority of about 150 in the district.

WOODBURN SCHOOL NEWS

(Seneth Greer, Teacher.)

The children are busy practicing for the Thanksgiving program and box social which is going to be November 18th. Don't forget the date.

The "Helping Hands" club met with Mrs. Gilbert Vallad last week. They finished all garments which were started and are now ready for the new Red Cross material. Mrs. Elwood Jewell, Mrs. Gilbert Vallad, Mrs. Henry Smith, and Mrs. Jay Skinner were chosen as a committee to attend the "Grayling Unit" this week.

Those who visited the school last week were Mrs. Arthur Howse and daughter Joyce and Miss Emma Lovely.

The 1st and 2nd grades have been stringing corn for Thanksgiving decorations.

SPORTSMEN'S SHOW FOR HUNTERS

Local sports enthusiasts have been racking their brains to think up some way to entertain the large number of deer hunters who come to this vicinity during hunting season. After a day's hunt, hunters like a little different scenery and a jog to town will do them good.

In the way of entertainment the Grayling Winter Sports association will sponsor a big sportsmen's show and two dancing parties this year beginning on the evening of Nov. 14 and ending on the evening of the 19th. The show is to be staged in the store building that was lately vacated by Carl W. Peterson, and on the main floor local merchants and societies will have booths and displays, among whom are the following:

Hanson Hardware, Mac & Gidley, A. S. Burrows, O. Sorenson & Sons, Grayling Mercantile Co., Connors Grocery, Central Drug Store, E. J. Olson. Each of these will exhibit their wares and the displays will be worth seeing. Grayling Fish Hatchery will have a wild life display while the Canoe Carnival committee and the Winter Sports association will have worthwhile booths. Mercy Hospital Aid society will conduct a delicatessen with fresh baked goods each evening. In the upstairs room of the building the American Legion will sponsor a feather party for the benefit of that organization and the local Boy Scouts.

The doors will open each evening for the six nights at 7:00 o'clock and the public in general is urged to visit the show. Drop in each evening.

Annual Hunters Ball.

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 16 the third annual Hunter's ball will take place at the I.O.O.F. temple and, as in former years, sportsmen are invited to come in their hunting clothes and quoting from the sponsors of the parties, "Do as you like." Saturday evening the 19th will close the week's activities with another big dancing party at the same place. All are invited to attend these parties and help make the strangers, who have come to this vicinity in the quest of game, most welcome, so they will want to come again next year. There will be good music and a general good time in store for everyone.

Two the Rialto Theatre is offering a fine program for Hunter's week which may be noted in their regular weekly program as shown in this paper. You can always plan on seeing a good show at the Rialto.

In all the Sportsmen's show is meeting with a lot of enthusiasm from merchants and others and should it prove a success, and it probably will, it may become an annual affair.

In view of the fact that a fertile truck garden on a concrete road is offered for sale, it looks as though a great deal of money had been wasted on irrigation and the enrichment of the soil.

COACH CORNELL PICKS B. B. SQUAD

Coach Willard Cornell announced that a group of twenty-two men will make up the basketball squad, temporarily. Further changes or additions in the future are probable in the extreme. This reduces the squad from which outside competition will be met from thirty-five.

Grayling's best schedule in some seasons demands concentrated effort on the part of both coach and players. The first game, the annual Alumni frays, is slated for the night before Thanksgiving and the games follow close in order, four before the Christmas holidays. Judging by the results of practices held so far fans of the green and white will see some new talent in action in the course of the winter. The second team is of especial interest and importance this year. They have thirteen games to be played and a lot of the boys who play these games will be shouldering the heavy burdens the next season when a large group of seniors graduate. This situation is the reason for the extensive schedule for the second team. A fast team of reserves is assured for this season.

An intramural program for the rest of the school is in the process of formation. This is a new experiment of this year that is designed to provide games and active competition for boys who do not get a chance at either of the two main teams. In the past the gym was used by the first and second teams to the exclusion of all other students. A full gymnasium schedule is of particular benefit to the school. Mr. Poor is in charge of the intramural program.

The boys who have made the squad as it stands at present are:

Forwards—K. Gothro, J. LaGrow, B. SanCartier, B. Sorenson, G. Hanson, L. Malonen, L. Gierke.

Centers—L. Marshall, N. Dawson, M. Roe, H. Winterlee, E. Joremire.

Guards—B. LaGrow, J. Knibbs, R. Sheehy, K. Hoelsi, D. Gothro, L. Lovely, C. Borchers, C. Malloy.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL NOV. 15-16

Mrs. A. J. Joseph, chairman of the annual roll call for membership in the Red Cross, announces that the dates for the drive in Grayling will be on November 15 and 16. Various committees have been appointed and a house to house canvass will be made in an effort to gain as large a membership as possible.

The Red Cross faces the busiest winter since the World War and as extensive plans are being made a large membership is necessary to help carry on the great work. Local people of the County have been benefitted a lot by being able to get floor for use in needy homes. This was made possible through the local chapter and when the present supply of floor is used up more is available. Too, a lot of clothing is to be furnished to needy families this winter through the Red Cross. In the unemployment crisis the Red Cross has borne a great relief responsibility throughout the country.

So our debt of gratitude is great. Everyone who is able to take out a membership, as a good citizen and a patriot, should do so. When the committee calls on you do your bit. Next Sunday pastors of the various churches in Grayling will endorse

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The first regular meeting of the Woman's Club for the year 1932-1933 was held Monday evening, Nov. 7th at the home of Mrs. Holger Schmidt.

After the usual business, the members enjoyed a very interesting paper on the political questions of the day, given by Mrs. Olaf Michelson. She began her paper with the origin of the political parties up to our present Republican and Democratic parties. Special mention was made of both President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt of New York, our candidate for the Presidency.

Reference was also made to our gubernatorial candidates. A general discussion was held with regard to the eight amendments to be voted on. Mr. M. A. Bates commented on these amendments, explaining them and answering questions pertaining to them. In all, it was a very worthwhile evening.

Our next meeting will be a social meeting at the home of Mrs. Emil Giegling, Nov. 14th at 7:30. At that time we will listen to a talk by Miss Constance Bement of the Michigan State Library.

It is announced that South America no longer is interested in the Monroe Doctrine, which recalls a Spanish proverb: "The ass, having drunk, gives a kick to the bucket."

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1932

ELECTION results portray a new deal in many ways. It means a change in administrative policies in accordance with the promises made during the campaign which have been a large factor in the success of the elected candidates.

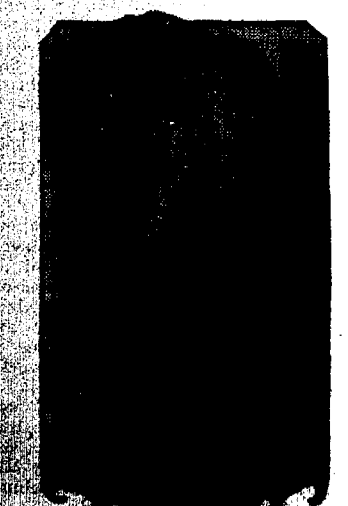

The unrest among the people of all classes of professions, industry, agriculture and labor contributed heavily to the desire for a change. And too the promise of an early return to the repeal of the 18th amendment carried with it a large influence for votes. The result was a landslide for the candidates on the Democratic ticket. The faith of the people in the Roosevelt principles extended down through national, state, district and county offices.

There was an avalanche of votes to the here-to-fore minority party. It completely wiped out the entire Republican state ticket, from Governor to attorney general. Regardless of the qualities and efficiencies of these officers, their official careers have been cut off for the present at least. With this goes entirely the State administrative board. Here will be a new deal indeed. Governor-elect Comstock must guide the destinies of the state without the aid of a single individual having had personal experience on that important board.

The National government will be Democratically controlled. This should accrue to the efficiency of the administration. In this the Republicans showed a decided weakness inasmuch as there was considerable contention between the administration and members of the Senate and House. There were many factions and no matter what happened there were those who were hurt. Senator Borah seemed glad to take a slap at the administration whenever opportunity was had. And Senator Norris, a supposed-to-be Republican, played faithless to his party. Senator LaFollette, elected on a Republican ticket, was a thorn in the flesh of the administration. Our own congressman, Roy O. Woodruff, we understand, wasn't always in the good graces of the administration and seemed glad to give it an occasional jibe. All these things tended to undermine the faith of the people in their government and we believe that Tuesday's election results may be partly traced to this lack of party unity.

We had every confidence in President Hoover and voted for him. We were just as honest in our belief as those who pinned their faith in Gov. Roosevelt. And there were many right here in Grayling too east their votes for the Socialist candidate, Norman Thomas. They had that right and who should say that they made a mistake? This living under the same laws in spite of differences of opinions makes for a stronger race and a stronger government. Honest differences should be fostered and encouraged, but they should not breed a lack of unity of purpose when once certain principles have been adopted. And right now is a most precarious time when there may be unjust prejudice and planned attack upon the efforts of the newly elected administration. Instead there should be that loyal backing and encouragement extended that will help to smooth the troublesome pathway that always confronts the president of the United States. That office carries with it great honor and also it involves grave responsibility. The people have spoken their choice. Now let's all keep the faith and pull together for a greater nation and a happier people.

Thomas Stagg, athletic director at Iowa State college, has been appointed head of athletics in the University of Chicago to succeed the famous Alvin Karpis, who reached the age of retirement next June.

SEVEN DAYS

For the past few months much agitation has been sweeping over the country concerning the political situation. Of late this agitation has been greatly intensified. It had even reached into the high school, and Friday afternoon several speakers expounded the virtues of their chosen candidate and gave reasons why he should be elected. Tuesday the climax was reached when everyone in the upper six grades was allowed to cast a ballot.

The last hour, Friday was devoted to political speeches by members of the high school. Some very fine speeches were delivered, and not only were the two major parties represented, but Norman Thomas, socialist candidate, had an upholder of his cause.

Roosevelt speeches were given by Clayton McDonnell, Rose Newell and Norma Griffith. Robert Funck, speaking for Norman Thomas, presented some very sound facts, and exploded some of our pet theories concerning socialists in general. Hoover was supported by Leland Marshall and DeAlton Griffith.

The Griffith family differed widely in their views and each presented them in interesting, fiery speeches, packed with force and enthusiasm.

Tuesday morning excitement ran high as the polls were opened, but the whole affair was conducted in an orderly and regular manner. The election board was duly sworn in and the voting began. A notice was posted to the effect that there should be no campaigning within one hundred feet of the polls, and that such an offense was punishable by law. This rule was well observed and no difficulty was encountered during the entire time that the voting was going on.

The votes were counted by Robert Funck, Clayton McDonnell, and Milford Parker. The final results were: Roosevelt—97.
Hoover—97.
Thomas—2.

Other winners included Comstock, Dickinson, Fitzgerald, Lawrence, Vories, Woodruff, Carpenter, Green, Sorenson, Nellist, Bennett, Peterson, Ferguson, Reagan, and Barnett.

The H-Y Club took charge of the election and filled their duties acceptably. Two hundred and fifteen voters marked their ballots so carefully that only one was thrown out. A regular instruction ballot was used.

I've heard of a great many brave dogs. For instance I once read about a mongrel that attacked a grizzly bear, but the bravest dog I ever heard of was one I used to own. He was just small—a police dog weighing only a trifle over one hundred pounds.

One example of his bravery occurred last summer when one day while I was out with him a brown ugly looking animal crossed the road in front of me. What should I do? I was alone, way out in the impenetrable forest, almost one-tenth of a mile from home, and I had no gun. Pat, the gallant police dog came to my rescue. He bounded ahead and single handedly attacked this horrible menace to society. After a fierce battle, lasting close to ten seconds he finally killed it. As soon as he was sure it was dead he came proudly back to lead me to his conquest. This turned out to be—you can believe it or not, a huge woodchuck which must have been at least a week old and was nearly six inches long.

DeAlton, Griffith.

I Never Could Explain It.
One cold and stormy night last winter while we were at dinner the electric lights went off and came on three times in succession. Although my father examined everything that could possibly have caused this, he found nothing. That same night we received news of the death of a relative. We are NOT superstitious. Nevertheless, this really happened.

Speed on a Model T Henry.
A Model T Henry is one of the best cars built for shakes, rattles, rattle, and slow speed in high. When it begins to shake and rattle you can judge how fast you're going. You get all the way from one mile to twenty-five miles on a gallon of gas. When it starts to jump and jerk you're going about five miles an hour. When the hood starts to rattle you're going about ten to fifteen miles an hour. If the steering wheel starts shaking you're going between twenty and twenty-five miles and the whole car is rattling, shaking, jerking, and doing everything but the right thing.

Thirty-five miles is about as fast as it will go, as it might cave in on you if it went faster.

A Spoiled Supper.
Out on the Pacific coast along the beaches they very often have sand storms and wolf raids.

One day, while we were camping on the coast, my mother had just finished making supper and had called us to eat, when a large fleet of boats sailed past the beach. As that was always interesting we went down to watch them. After the passing of the fleet we started back to finish eating our meal. But on the way back a small sand storm came up, which lasted only about one minute. Upon reaching the camping place a great sight met our eyes—three wolves eating all our supper, breaking dishes, tipping everything over, and two of them fighting over the roasted rabbit. The best we could do for supper that night was to go over to the Star Food restaurant.

One class period of last Thursday afternoon was given over to a talk by a man who has spent the last fourteen years in world travel. Mr. Lewis has visited Grayling High before and is assured a warm welcome for any future calls here.

Mr. Lewis has found that the most interesting way to visit the odd corners of the world are best reached on a tramp steamer.

Mr. Lewis gave a very vivid description of the pleasures and dangers on board a tramp steamer. He told how the beautiful South Sea Islands looked like gorgeous jewels laid in a silver setting (made by the waves breaking over the coral). Mr. Lewis also told of his visit to the most mysterious island of Borneo, of the life and habits of the people.

Mr. Lewis has made a study of the people before they have become civilized and found it both very interesting and worthwhile.

Juniors.

The Junior class had their first party of this year Friday night, November fourth. The class had been divided into two teams for obtaining subscriptions for magazines, "The Greenbacks" with Helma Corsaut as their leader, and "The Goldbacks" with Bill McLeod as their leader. The Greenbacks being the winning side, were guests of the Goldbacks at the party. Games were played until refreshments were served. Then dancing was enjoyed for a couple of hours. A good time was reported by all whom were present. The Goldbacks and their leader may be congratulated for the success of the party.

PROTESTING TOO MUCH

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Late Dean of Men,
University of Illinois.

Corwin was trying intelligently to estimate the effectiveness and reliability of a group of men whom he was thinking of taking upon a trying and dangerous expedition.

They talked a great deal; they gave him glib assurance of their loyalty, of their interest, and of their fitness for the work. He hesitated somewhat, he seriously doubted their dependability. They talked too excitedly, too fluently, with somewhat insincere emotion.

"They blustered too much," he said, "to be convincing." He was afraid of them.

It is the quiet man usually who is most sure of himself, and of whom we may be most sure. The man who blusters is trying hard to make a case for himself. The speaker who protests too strongly is barricading a weak spot. Much talk often means weakness.

There was some evidence that Evans had been dishonest in an examination. He protested vigorously. It was an insult to him, he said, even to suggest that he was not honest—an insult which he could not endure.

He grew angry and heated during the simple questioning to which he was subjected.

"An innocent man would take the matter more calmly," Bond said. "He would be surer of himself. Knowing himself to be innocent and standing on solid ground he would be less perturbed. He blustered too much. His protestations do not seem genuine."

Bond was quite right. Evans came back to see me the morning after we had interviewed him, and when I told him we thought him guilty he admitted the facts as we had supposed them to be. He had copied. His blustering was simply an attempt to strengthen the weakness of his case, he explained.

"The lady doth protest too much," the queen says in Hamlet of the player queen, and protesting so strongly her statements were somewhat doubtful.

OUR TIME TO SPEAK

WAS LAWRENCE

We arrived at East Lansing Monday night in time to enjoy the informal get-together in the large auditorium of the Peoples Church. Tuesday morning the 59th annual session of Michigan State Grange opened in regular form by Master Geo. F. Roxburgh. We were welcomed by the President of Michigan State College and Mayor Ford of East Lansing, also by Ingham County Pomona Degree team in an expressive tree service, the latter who at this time presented State Grange officers and delegates with a 3 year old white pine seedling to take home and plant in commemoration of the event. After this the Memorial Service was held. This service was very beautiful and was dedicated to the patrons who had gone into the "Great Beyond" during the past year.

In the afternoon session the State officers gave their annual reports which continued on into the evening and the following morning. The committees were appointed, we being placed on the Good of Order and Juvenile respectively.

Wednesday morning session opened and regular order of business began. Governor Brucker addressed the Patrons and in turn introduced the Vice President of our nation, Charles B. Curtis. He spoke words of encouragement and hope that in the near future prosperity would return.

In the afternoon the first four degrees were exemplified by different degree teams of Lenawee County. Three of these teams were composed entirely of young people and the fourth consisted of older folks, showing that successful ritualistic work could be done by either the very young or old. These degrees surely were worth seeing and it would be difficult to judge which team did the work best. Marc Cutler (our own Harry Lauder) sang several selections in costume, and clever tap dancing was presented by two little juveniles of Lenawee County. These juveniles had won honors with book reports given in connection with their Grange work.

In the evening the banquet was held at the Union Building on the M. S. C. campus. Mr. L. E. Wilson of Pinkney gave a very valuable speech on "Manager Currency, the First Step Toward Prosperity." Following this address Mrs. Allison Heaps of Ann Arbor gave a dramatic presentation of Pollock's "House Beautiful." This was very beautiful and ably rendered and we wish all patrons could have heard it and grasped the vision it presented.

Thursday afternoon the result of the election was announced. C. H. Bramble was elected Master; W. G. Armstrong, Overseer; Mr. and Mrs. Marc Cutler, Assistant Steward; and Lady Assistant Steward; and Oscar Yeater, Gatekeeper. The remainder of the officers were filled by the same persons as in the two preceding years. Alma was chosen for the next convention in 1933. Thursday night the fifth and sixth degrees were exemplified.

All day Friday reports of committees were read, discussed and acted upon. Business was not finished up before the evening session and until ten o'clock the delegates and officers patiently worked. Then the installation of officers, a beautiful ceremony, well worth the hours which preceded it. This installation was put on after the form used at National Grange in Wisconsin last year, and Sister Lydia Roxburgh (National Pomona) gave much assistance to the installing officers, (Brother Holly Hubbell and Sister Armstrong).

Master Bramble thanked the delegates for the office they had entrusted to him and we are sure he will do all in his power to make Michigan a bigger, better, and stronger Grange State. It was with regrets when the sound of the gavel closed the 59th annual session of our State Grange.

We, as delegate body, hope the Patrons who sent us to represent them, may say, on studying the annual year book soon to leave the press, "Well done, good and faithful servants." We are sure each delegate felt the responsibility connected with this convention and did the best he could in helping to form the resolutions passed upon.

In closing let us thank you for the honor and privilege of representing Crawford County Grange in the State Convention at East Lansing. We had a marvelous experience and feel full of the wonderful Grange spirit.

Respectfully submitted,
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Owen.

Presidential Campaign Closed in Lively Fashion—Recovery in Industry Seems at Hand—Plan for Disposal of Farm Surplus.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

FAST and furious were the gyrations of the candidates and their active supporters during the closing week of the campaign, and every known argument was brought to bear on the 47,000,000 qualified voters of the United States, of whom the experts believed nearly 40,000,000 would go to the polls. The elections seemed loth to yield to excitement but were dogged and determined, and probably had made up their minds long before as to how they would cast their ballots. The results of the election will be known to most of the readers of this column before it reaches them, so predictions are not in order.

President Hoover's final effort in his campaign carried him to Springfield, Ill.; St. Louis, Mo.; Gary, Ind., and then up to St. Paul, Minn. On the route he made many platform speeches, but his main addresses were in the cities named. The tour constituted his last attempt to capture the 60 electoral votes of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin; and his arguments were also directed to the agricultural vote of Ohio, Nebraska, Kansas, Michigan and the Dakotas. Before leaving Washington for the Middle West the President had spoken vigorously in New York city, Philadelphia, and other points in the East, and had made an especial appeal by radio to the voters of California, his home state.

Governor Roosevelt's main speech of the week was delivered in Boston. A driving rain storm and his desire to get back quickly to Albany led him to disappoint waiting crowds in Hartford, Bridgeport, and other cities of the New England area. The final days of the campaign were spent by the Democratic candidate close to home, but he did not cease to talk to the electorate. Since his nomination he had visited 37 states, the only ones omitted being seven in the solid Democratic South and Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota.

SPEAKING to his 600 associates on the New York citizens committee of the emergency unemployment relief committee, Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, declared that the general industrial situation was more promising than it had been for two years. He said it was quite evident "that recovery from the low point of last summer has appeared" and that this recovery "is definite and progressive."

His brief address was made at the committee's first meeting preparatory to the launching of the $15,000,000 drive for funds from the public for unemployment relief.

Encouraging, too, was the news from Jefferson City, Mo., that the citizen's relief and unemployment committee of St. Louis told Governor Caulfield that mild weather and an upturn in industry made it unnecessary to use any of the $200,000 appropriated to St. Louis by the Reconstruction Finance corporation for relief in September. E. C. Steger, a director of the committee, said unexpected increases in orders, particularly in the garment and shoe industries and in railroad shops, with much highway work in progress, made available relief funds adequate.

JUST at a time when corn and wheat were selling on the market at the lowest prices on record, there was staged in Kendall county, Illinois, a demonstration of a plan that might wipe out in two years the entire surplus of farm products, according to the county farm bureau and J. J. Groeten of Aurora. It simply is the mixing of ethyl alcohol distilled from corn and other products with gasoline for motor fuel, the proportion of alcohol being 10 per cent. Besides using up the grain surplus, it was pointed out, the move would aid materially in conserving the natural supplies of petroleum in the United States, now being consumed at a rate that is "reducing the national supply at an alarming pace."

The demonstration tended to bear out research reports which have been compiled from several European countries and by the American government on the value of ethyl alcohol as a motor fuel.

Two and one-half gallons of alcohol are obtained from a bushel of corn, two and one-fourth gallons from a bushel of wheat, while barley, potatoes, beets, cantaloupes, and other surplus products produce high yields. At present the use of such alcohol, even when rendered poisonous and suitable in gasoline, is restricted by the prohibition laws as well as by the complications of state and federal gas taxes.

Manufacture of the fuel could be done in rural communities with simple distilling plants, as it is done in Germany, the opponents of the test declared. By adding one gallon of it at 50 to 60 cents for each size gallon of gasoline, one would be worth 60 to 80 cents a bushel and other crops in proportion.

CHARGES that private contractors on federal food control projects along the lower Mississippi river were mistreating negro laborers, mentioned in this column some weeks ago, led President Hoover to appoint a committee of three negroes and one white man to make immediate inquiry into the situation. The men named were Dr. Robert R. Moton, president of Tuskegee Institute; Judge James A. Cobb of Washington, D. C., and Eugene Knicker Jones, executive secretary of the Urban League of New York, representing the negro race, and Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant, representing the United States army.

A White House announcement of the appointment said the Chief Executive had asked this committee "to make a thorough and impartial inquiry as promptly as possible" and report the results of the investigation to him immediately.

LONG and efficient service for the State department was recognized and rewarded when the President selected F. Lamont Bella of Waverly, Pa., to be ambassador to Poland. He succeeds John N. Willys of Toledo, who resigned not long ago to resume his business duties. Mr. Bella is a veteran in the United States diplomatic corps, having served in the embassies at Peking, Istanbul, Paris, and London, and as chief of the State department division of protocols and international treaties. He resigned the latter post in March, 1931.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made in New York of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Reeve Morrow, daughter of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow and sister-in-law of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, to Aubrey Niel Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Morgan of Bryndervan, Wales. The date for the wedding has not been set. Miss Morrow and Mr. Morgan met while her father, the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, was attending the London naval conference in 1930. She and her mother had accompanied Senator Morrow to London. Since that time Miss Morrow has visited in England, having passed three months in the summer of 1931 in Europe.

STRICT censorship keeps from the world most of the news concerning the warfare between Bolivia and Paraguay over the Gran Chaco, but it is known that the fighting continues with increasing fury. The minister of war at La Paz has announced that Gen. Hans Kundt, German military expert who organized and trained Bolivia's modern army, has consented to lead that army against the Paraguayans. The latter appear to have competent commanders, also, and have shown no signs of yielding to their opponents. The Argentine war ministry at Buenos Aires stated that many deserters from the Bolivian forces operating in the Gran Chaco were entering Argentine territory.

GENERAL election day in Cuba was marked by many instances of violence, the worst of which was the explosion of a powerful dynamite bomb in a theater in Santa Clara. Five of the 600 persons in the building were killed and many injured. Investigators said the crime was committed by Conservatives in retaliation for what they claimed were government controlled elections.

President Machado's liberal party candidates were returned overwhelming victors in the voting. In which two senators, 72 representatives, and officials of most Cuban cities were chosen. It was estimated that 80 per cent of the eligible voters did not vote, either through lack of interest or because they heeded the pleas of the opposition to boycott the election.

DEATH claimed two especially well known Americans. They were Horace Kent Tenney, Chicago attorney who was prominent in his profession, and Harold McGrath, whose novels and short stories had pleased millions of readers.

THE disarmament conference, whose bureau resumed work Thursday in Geneva, does not wind up in utter failure, much of the credit will go to Norman Davis, representative of the United States. He has been exceedingly busy in European capitals, trying to reconcile the views and demands of the various powers. Especially was he interested in the new French plan laid before the bureau, which calls for the adoption of a new security system and the writing of new security treaties.

In conversation with Premier Herriot and Minister of War Paul-Boncour, Mr. Davis said the United States was unable to commit itself to the use of force in defense of the League pact outlawing war, though it would support the idea of maintaining the pact by violation of the pact.

Mr. Herriot told Mr. Davis that the proposal for the substitution of a federal armistice with short-term contracts, Davis did not seem to like.

It was believed in Berlin that the proposal might induce Germany to resume participation in the disarmament conference provided the other powers agree that all agreements reached shall apply equally to all the signatories, including Germany.

On the naval side the French are again talking about a Mediterranean Locarno of France, Great Britain and Italy as a prelude to a naval understanding with Italy, which would complete the London treaty and possibly lead to further American, British and Japanese reductions.

JAPAN has its hands full with Manchukuo and the Chinese irregulars that are operating there in an effort to overthrow the puppet state. The situation in the northern half of Manchukuo was reported to be especially dangerous, the Japanese hold on the important city of Taitshui being imperiled. Two bloody battles were fought about one hundred miles north of that point and though the Japanese claimed victory in both, they lost a good many men, and were troubled by the discovery that Manchukuo troops were revolting and joining the Chinese. This revolt, the Japanese admitted, was spreading.

In addition to the thrust from the north, the Japanese control was threatened from the northwest by Gen. Su Ping-wen and his Chinese irregulars, who for some weeks have occupied the city of Manichull on the Siberian frontier.

HAVING made only one campaign speech, over the radio, in which he made but one promise, to respect the constitution, Arturo Alessandri was elected President of Chile. Formerly a radical, he had shifted toward the right and was supported by the moderate elements. He obtained a large plurality over Col. Marimaduke Grove, radical candidate and three others. Alessandri's victory was a very happy one for the veteran politician whose star was cut short by a revolt and dictatorship in 1924 and who lost the next general election in 1931 to Juan Esteban Montero.

Colonel Grove told his admirers that "we intend to continue the revolutionary activities not only in Chile, but in other Latin American countries. We have sworn to unite our efforts for the formation of a Latin American Federation of Socialist Republics."

Martinez Mera, liberal, was elected President of Ecuador; and Thurelio Carias Andino was successful in the Honduras elections.

SEVENTY-eight prominent Brazilians were sent into exile as penalty for participation in the Sao Paulo revolt that was suppressed only after three months of strenuous effort by the government. Included in the list were generals, political leaders and editors, most of whom probably will never be permitted to return. The men were loaded on a vessel at Rio and taken to another port for transfer to a steamship on which they left for Europe, most of them for Portugal. The deportation was carried out so the government might avoid long investigations and trials, and also to weaken the opposition party in the campaign preceding the assembly election next May.

POLICE forces of London had their expected troubles with the army of unemployed that gathered there to present claim to parliament. There were frequent clashes between the jobless hordes and the authorities and on one occasion the "army" tried to storm Buckingham palace. It also attempted to invade the house of commons and was driven back with difficulty after desperate fighting with the police, who are armed only with batons. W. A. L. Harrington, communist leader of the hunger marchers, and several others, were arrested and locked up.

Chicago also had a parade of the unemployed, but the unfortunate men there were orderly and were permitted to submit their needs to Mayor Cermak through a committee.

Rise of Crime in Great Britain Worrying "Yard"

London.—Recent outbreaks of crime and banditry in England have caused alarm in many quarters.

Both Scotland Yard and the police forces, under control of the home office, have come in for sharp criticism. New crime methods, it is claimed, have outwitted every system devised by the police; while the bandits are becoming more daring, the authorities are charged with becoming more routine.

With the country's long standing reputation for efficient police administration seriously challenged, no less an authority on crime conditions than Maj. Gen. Sir Wyndham Child, chief of the criminal investigation department at Scotland Yard from 1921 to 1928, has lately admitted that "criminals of a certain type have at the moment got the better of us, and there will have to be a lot of deep thinking before we regain supremacy once more."

BANK BANDITS FINDING RISKS IN STATE HIGH

TROOPER RADIO SYSTEM LINKS LAW-ENFORCEMENT GROUPS EFFECTIVELY

Neighbor States Average 41 Hold-ups In Banks Annually; Michigan, 13

Despite an apparent increase in desperation and daring, bank bandits who operate in the rural sections are finding more and more that in Michigan they operate against alarming odds.

Given word of a bank hold-up in any part of the state in time, the Michigan State Police through the state-owned police radio system, their own posts, radio-equipped cruisers, and scout cars and the co-operation of sheriffs and city police departments can set up a blockade that is virtually impenetrable.

The success of this quick fusion of law-enforcement agencies in an emergency is being reflected in records of bank robberies of Michigan and surrounding states. Four neighboring states—Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, and Minnesota—showed an average of 41 bank robberies each last year. Michigan had 13.

Twenty-nine men participated in these 13 Michigan "jobs." Twenty-one of them have been arrested and convicted.

Total loot in the Michigan robberies amounted to $44,961, of which $24,779.50 was recovered. The loot in Illinois, by way of comparison, was $250,000 in its 71 bank robberies during the year.

None of the states reported above has a state police organization similar to that in Michigan nor boasts of a state-owned police radio which links all law-enforcement agencies into one unit of defense against crime and banditry.

The effectiveness of Michigan's defense against bank hold-ups was manifest about a year ago when hold-up insurance rates to the banks of ten states were doubled while the Michigan rate was left unchanged. The ten states were Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Original American Foods

There has been much controversy concerning the foods originally found in the Americas. It is generally agreed that in North America were tobacco, maize, a certain type of pear and a small variety of tomato. In Central America and the islands the early explorers also found tobacco and tomatoes. In South America, particularly Brazil, wild potatoes were found in abundance, so much so that in about 1840 it was necessary to import thousands of these native plants to develop in order to save the potato crop of the world. It was originally thought that bananas were first found in Central and South America and the subject of much debate, and it is generally believed today that while bananas were originally in that section of the world, they were also found in tropical sections of the eastern hemisphere at the same time.

STATE POLICE BARRACKS ACT AS 'SLOW' SIGNALS

Michigan State Police posts are automatic "slow down" signals to speeding motorists according to city officials in those towns in which the barracks are located. In most instances the posts have been established at the edge of these cities and officials have discovered that motorists invariably ease up on the throttle when the sign "State Police Barracks" is glimpsed at the roadside.

The Baltimore Sun deserves to be quoted widely, and with profound credit, when it remarks that human beings continue to act as though the science of statistics had never been invented.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES
OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO.

Thursday, November 11, 1909

R. P. Forbes and wife are visiting the children near Indianapolis, Ind.

Arthur Wakeley and family have moved back to their farm on the north side of the river.

The price of potatoes in our market is declining as there is no shipping demand from here, but the tubers are bringing from 12 to 15 cents more than is paid in surrounding towns.

A goodly number of our friends are telling how fine the partridges are this year, and what grand dinners they make. How do we know, or how can we tell it is true or not?

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Robbins of Roscommon were in the village a couple of days last week visiting old friends. They are always welcome in Grayling but they do not stay long enough to see them all.

The party given at the opera house last Friday evening by the Eastern Star ladies is reported as an exceedingly pleasant affair. There were about one hundred and fifty present and the social party and elegant banquet were greatly enjoyed by all, while those who wished kept time to the perfect music till the "wee sma hours."

Sheriff Amidon was in South Branch the last of the week and brought back some white flint corn from C. E. Kellogg's farm, as fine as could be grown anywhere, and a basket of apples from John Smith's orchard, of the Northern Spy, Worthy, and Alexander varieties, of which we cannot believe that more nearly perfect were ever grown.

Ex-supervisor Charles Silsby of Beaver Creek was in town one day last week with his proverbial smile which will never leave him, greatly enlarged and improved, for the reason that he is now Grandpa to a baby girl, who is visiting Fred and his wife in Detroit.

Mrs. Wm. Fisher and her daughter and little granddaughter enjoyed a buggy ride last Sunday when the horse shied about something and ran away, scattering the occupants of the buggy along the road. The ladies are nursing some painful bruises but were otherwise uninjured. They ought to have taken "Billy" along as a driver; he can hit every stump in the road.

The ladies of the W. R. C. were invited to spend Wednesday, Nov. 3rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chalker of Maple Forest. A goodly number responded and started early on the trip, piloted by Mr. Burton, reaching there in due time, the weather being all that could be desired. After the usual greetings,

Confederate Statesman

Judah P. Benjamin, secretary of state of the Confederacy, was a senator from Louisiana when the war began and withdrew to join the Confederate cause. After the war he left the country, established himself in England, and was called within the bar as a queen's counsel in 1872. He moved to Paris in 1882 and died there in 1884.

Give Thyself

The only conclusive evidence of a man's sincerity is that he gives himself for a principle. Words, money, all things else are comparatively easy to give away; but when a man makes a gift of his daily life and practice, it is plain that the truth, whatever it may be, has taken possession of him.—Lowell.

HUGE PROGRAM AT STOCK SHOW

Every moment of the eight big days of Chicago's mammoth live stock show, the International Live Stock Exposition will be crowded with scores of events of interest, fascination, and entertainment, Secretary-Manager B. H. Heide assures.

It will be held this year from November 26 to December 3, opening, as in past years, on the Saturday after Thanksgiving day in its permanent home at the entrance to the Chicago Stock Yards.

Railroads Reduce Fares.
Railroads entering Chicago have indicated that special round trip low fares will be offered during the week of the Exposition. Low fares will be granted from nearly every part of the country, with rate reductions ranging all the way from a fare and a half for the round trip to a round trip for the price of a one way ticket. In addition, special week-end coach excursions will be offered to the Exposition at much greater fare reductions.

The big event of the opening day, Saturday, November 26, will be the Junior Live Stock Feeding Contest. Farm boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20 years will be here from many states to exhibit baby beavers, lambs, and pigs of their own feeding and fitting, most of which have been state and county fair prize winners this year.

Livestockmen from far and near will be at the ringside on Monday morning to watch Walter Biggar, of DeWitt, Scotland, begin his tremendous task of judging the steers, which for years have been the largest assembly of top notch beavers seen at any livestock show in the world.

From Monday to the close of the Exposition at the end of the week, the huge International arena and judging rings will be the setting of parades of the monarchs of the American livestock world, each striving for a place on the prize lists of this climax of the year's live stock shows.

Two Sunday Horse Shows.
For the first time a full entertainment program will be given on Sunday, November 27. The management announces that both matinee and evening Horse Shows will be held on that day.

One of the big features of the Monday night Horse Show, November 28, will be a parade of 4-H Club boys and girls who will be here from 43 states. Spectacular auction sales of breeding cattle and the choicest of prime meat animals in the land will be held the closing days of the big show.

Rheumatics Thrilled

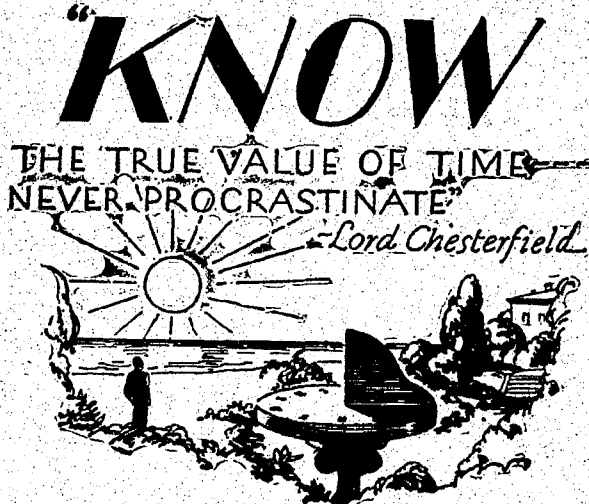

When Torturing!
Pains Are Stopped!

A woman who had been suffering from rheumatism for years, and who had tried every remedy known to her, wrote to me: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast, go lighter on fatty meats, potatoes, butter, cream and pastries—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drug store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

WOOD IS CHEAP FUEL WHEN WELL SEASONED

A cord of four-foot, dry oak, hickory, or maple is equal in fuel value to a ton of anthracite coal, according to the Michigan State College forestry department, which suggests that the products of home woodlots can be turned into economical fuel.

Dry wood is recommended because nearly half of the fuel value of green wood is wasted in drying the stick enough so that it will burn. Limb wood does not have as high fuel value as that cut from the trunks of the trees.

A pound of any kind of dry wood produces nearly one-half as much heat as a pound of hard coal. A four-foot cord of hickory weighs approximately 3,800 pounds, mixed wood weighs about 3,000 pounds to the cord, and Jack pine about 2,800 pounds. In burning resinous woods such as pine, a part of the heat value is usually lost in soot or smoke.

Most furnaces will burn wood successfully. If a bed of ashes can be established and left undisturbed on the grates, the furnace will burn wood all right. In some cases, it may be necessary to lay a sheet of perforated iron over the grates before burning wood.

Wood fires need attention more often than coal fires but good sized, well seasoned chunks hold fire for many hours. Many people prefer wood as a fuel, especially in kitchen ranges or for use in the fireplace where the crackling flames lend an air of hospitality to the room.

POTPOURRI

Teeth in His Tail

The sting ray has, at the end of its long flexible tail, a series of sharp teeth along the edges. Using this tail as a weapon the ray inflicts jagged wounds of a serious nature by thrusting it into the point of attack. There are some fifty species, and range in size up to 11 or 12 feet long.

There should be a place in the home for the children's things. If a child is provided with a storage place for his toys, books, and other choice possessions he can easily be taught habits of neatness and order.

Low shelves, low bureau drawers, boxes, and chests will encourage children to help themselves.

In order to develop judgment in regard to colors, one must learn what effect colors have upon one another, when they are used in different quantities and in different degrees of intensity and lightness.

Milk is the most valuable article in a diet and is the most nearly perfect food that can be put on a table.

A neat house dress made with good lines and as much care and thought in design as a street dress, and worn with shoes and stockings that harmonize, may give as pleasing an effect as a more expensive afternoon dress.

Simplicity, quality, comfort, serviceability and suitability should be the keynote around which the wardrobe is planned. It is well to remember that it is better to be modestly dressed than to be conspicuous through overdressing.

A soft brush and a hat stand can double the life of a hat.

Made-over children's clothes are usually more successful if the material chosen is not too old in weave, color or figure. A little boy's suit will be more suitable if made from his father's light suit than a dark one, and the little girl will look better in bright colors than in brown or grey made from mother's last year's dress. Adding contrasting bright colors in trimming or redeye often makes it possible to use dull colored materials for children's clothes.
